The Assistants of the Attorney General.

(Louisville Evening Post.)

Early in the session a bill was introduced restoring the authority of the Attorney General over litigation which had been transferred to the Governor, when Judge Pratt, a Republican, was Attorney General. The power to employ lawyers to represent the State had been frequently exercised by the Governor, and the fees reached large proportions.

So the Legislature proposed to limit this expense, and to put the responsibility where the constitution was supposed to put it, on the Attorney General.

A bill was introduced authorizing the Attorney General to appoint two assistants, and taking from the Governor the right to interfere.

That was what was called "an Insurgent" bill, as it deprived the Governor of valuable patronage and thus weakened the power of his machine.

But Saturday the "Loyalists" rallied and scattered the "Insurgents." The bill was amended in the House. The Attorney General was allowed to employ one assistant, and the Governor was authorized, with the consent of the Attorney General, to employ special counsel as heretofore.

So the net result of this typical Democratic reform measure is one more office with a $3,500 salary, and no restriction whatever on the employment of special counsel to attend to work the regular officers are paid to perform.

And yet one badly smitten was,
'Twas mentioned the next day.
They met by chance this autumn eve,
With neither glance nor bow;
They often come together so—
A freight train and a cow.

An old time coach was received at the Illinois Central shops Sunday to be repaired. It came from the little Cadiz railroad.

The coach is a combination car having three apartments, one for white passengers, one for colored passengers and the last for baggage. The seats are constructed solely of wood and the car is a very dilapidated piece of mechanism. It was one of the first passenger coaches ever made in the South.

PISO'S CURE FOR CONSUMPTION

"Do It Today."

The time-worn injunction, "Never put off 'til to-morrow what you can do to-day!" That is the terse advice we want to give you about that hacking cough or demoralizing cold with which you have been struggling for several days, perhaps weeks. Take some reliable remedy for it to-day—and let that remedy be Dr. Boscche's German Syrup, which has been in use for over thirty-five years. A few doses of it will undoubtedly relieve your cough or cold, and its continued use for a few days will cure you completely. No matter how deep seated your cough, even if dread consumption has attacked your lungs, German Syrup will surely effect a cure—as it has done before in thousands of apparently hopeless cases of lung trouble. New trial bottles, 25c; regular size, 75c. At all druggists.

RIGHT TRUSSES

There should be no guess about Trusses. They have an important mission. They must do what they should or they are worse than none. Many are sacrificing comfort and safety by wearing ill-fitting Trusses. Others who might be cured by a RIGHTLY FITTING TRUSS are using none. Those we carry are, we believe, THE RIGHT ONES. Can be fitted perfectly and exert a steady, even pressure.

WEAR WELL AND CAN'T EASILY GET OUT OF ORDER.
